2. How super works

About super

Super is a way to save for your retirement which is, in part, compulsory. It is a long-term investment that has a range of benefits, including tax concessions, government benefits and access to insurance.

Contributions

There are different types of contributions available to you (e.g. employer contributions, voluntary contributions, government co-contributions). Generally, if you are employed, over the age of 18 and earn more than $450 a month, your employer is required to make contributions into a super fund for you.

If you are self-employed, the onus is on you to contribute to your super and take advantage of tax concessions and other government benefits.

The Commonwealth Government provides tax concessions on super contributions and investment earnings to encourage individuals to boost their retirement savings. There are limitations on contributions into, and withdrawals from, super.

Most people can choose which super fund they would like their super guarantee contributions paid into. If you do not have a choice, or you do not tell your employer where to pay your super contributions, they will be directed into a super fund chosen by your employer.

You may be able to make your own additional contributions by:

- asking your employer to deduct extra money from your pay into YourChoice Super, before tax is taken out (referred to as salary sacrifice),
- making your own contributions if you are self-employed,
- having contributions made by your spouse, or
- directing any savings into YourChoice Super. You may be eligible for the Government co-contribution if your income is below a certain threshold.

Consolidate your super

You can roll over the balance from your current super fund and consolidate any 'lost super' or multiple super accounts into YourChoice Super. If you have multiple super accounts, you may be paying additional fees for each account. You should consider if it is beneficial to consolidate multiple super accounts into YourChoice Super.

For further information about how super works, including how to make additional superannuation contributions and withdrawals, go to www.moneysmart.gov.au.

Accessing your super

As super is designed to help you save for retirement, you usually cannot access your super until you are aged between 55 and 60 (depending on your date of birth) and have permanently retired from the workforce. There are however some special limited circumstances allowing early withdrawal.

You should read the important additional information about consolidating and accessing your super before making a decision. Go to 3. Receiving your pension and 4. How to transact in your account in the Additional Information Guide available via the Secure Online Portal. The material relating to consolidating and accessing your super may change between the time you read this PDS and the day when you acquire YourChoice Super.

4. Risks of super

All investments have some level of risk. Different investment strategies may carry different levels of risk, depending on the assets which make up the investment strategy – for example, cash, bonds, property and equities all have different levels of risk.

YourChoice Super offers a range of investment options. The likely investment return, and the level of risk, is different for each investment option depending on the underlying mix of assets. Assets with the highest return over the longer term may also have the highest level of short-term risk.

When considering your investment in super, it is important to understand that:

- the value of the investment will go up and down,
- the level of returns will vary, and future returns may differ from past returns,
- returns are not guaranteed and you may lose some of your money,
- the amount of your future superannuation savings (including contributions and returns) may not be enough to provide adequately for your retirement,
- laws affecting your super may change in the future, and
- the level of risk acceptable to you will vary depending on a range of factors including your age, your investment time frame, where other parts of your wealth are invested and your risk tolerance.

Other risks associated with investing in YourChoice Super include:

- | | |
|----------------------|------------------------------|
| • Inflation risk | • Fund risk |
| • Market risk | • Legislative risk |
| • Settlement risk | • Liquidity risk |
| • Interest rate risk | • Credit risk |

If you do not make a choice, the Trustee will contact you about making a choice. If the Trustee is unable to contact you and your account receives a contribution, your funds may be returned.

We may change the investment options offered. All changes will be included in the Investment Guide and made available via the Secure Online Portal.

You or your nominated representative can switch between investment options or ask that future contributions be paid into a different investment option by advising us online via the Secure Online Portal.

You must maintain a minimum balance in your Cash Hub or one or more of the Pooled Investment Options to pay for transactions such as insurance premiums, fees and other costs. 6. Fees and costs

Consumer advisory warning:

Did you know?

Small differences in both investment performance and fees and costs can have a substantial impact on your long term returns.

For example, total annual fees and costs of 2% of your account balance rather than 1% could reduce your final return by up to 20% over a 30 year period (for example, reduce it from $100,000 to $80,000).

You should consider whether features such as superior investment performance or the provision of better member services justify higher fees and costs.

You or your employer, as applicable, may be able to negotiate to pay lower fees.¹ Ask the fund or your financial adviser.

To find out more

If you would like to find out more, or see the impact of the fees based on your own circumstances, the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC) website (www.moneysmart.gov.au) has a superannuation fee calculator to help you check out different fee options.

7. How super is taxed

This section provides a summary of the tax consequences associated with investing in YourChoice Super as at the date of issue of this PDS. Changes to tax law, or its interpretation, could affect the tax consequences associated with investing in YourChoice Super. The tax consequences for a particular investor may vary. Investors should seek professional tax advice which takes into account their individual circumstances.

Super is taxed in multiple ways. We pay tax applicable to your account directly to the Australian Taxation Office. Tax may be deducted from your contributions, account balance or investment earnings.

Tax on contributions

Concessional (before tax) contributions

These include Super Guarantee (SG) contributions, self-employed contributions, salary sacrifice contributions and other employer or award contributions.

The general concessional contribution cap set by the Australian government for the 2018/19 financial year, is $25,000 per annum.¹

From 1 July 2018, if you have a total superannuation balance of less than $500,000 at the end of 30 June of the previous financial year, you may be entitled to contribute more than the general concessional contributions cap using the carried-forward amounts of your unused concessional contributions. The first year you will be entitled to carry forward any unused amounts in the 2019/20 financial year. Unused amounts are available for a maximum of five years, and will expire after this.

All your concessional contributions will be taxed at 15%. If your income, plus certain superannuation contributions, exceeds $250,000 per annum, the excess contributions will be taxed at a further 15%.

If you exceed the applicable concessional contribution cap for a financial year, you will be liable to pay an excess concessional contributions charge. Excess concessional contributions will be included in your assessable income and effectively taxed at your marginal tax rate. In such circumstances, you will be entitled to a non-refundable tax offset equal to the 15% tax paid in respect of your account on receipt of your concessional contributions.

Non-concessional (after tax) contributions

Non-concessional contributions include personal contributions, spouse contributions and government co-contributions. For the 2018/19 financial year, no additional tax applies on contributions up to a cap of $100,000 per annum if your total superannuation balance is less than $1.6 million.

In addition, if you are under 65 years of age, you may be able to 'bring forward' to the current financial year, the following two years' worth of non-concessional contributions. The 'bring forward' amount will depend on your total superannuation balance at the end of 30 June of the previous financial year.

If you exceed the above non-concessional contribution caps, you will be required to pay an excess non-concessional contribution tax at a rate of 45% plus any applicable levies.

Warning: If you exceed the relevant contribution caps applicable to your superannuation for a financial year, you may pay excess contributions tax.

Tax on super investment earnings

Earnings on your super investment will be taxed at a maximum of 15%, if we have your tax file number (TFN) on file. Some capital gains may be taxed at the concessional rate of 10%.

Tax on your Super Wrap Investment Options will be deducted from your Cash Hub or from your most conservative Pooled Investment Option and reported in your account statement. Tax on Pooled Investment Options is included in the unit price for the Pooled Investment Option and is not reported separately in your account statement. Franking Credits are incorporated into the annual income distributions as they are paid to your Cash Hub or Pooled Investment Options.

GST and Reduced Input Tax Credits

All fees and costs are inclusive of GST, unless expressly stated otherwise. We may be able to claim a reduced input tax credit (RITC) of up to 75% of the GST paid on some of these fees. This may include fees for certain brokerage services, investment portfolio management, administrative functions and Custodial Services. We may also be able to claim an RITC of 55% of the GST paid on some of the other fees charged. Where we are able to claim an RITC, we will retain the RITC.

¹ If you have more than one super fund, all concessional contributions made to all of your super funds are added together and count towards the concessional contribution cap. Super taxation and contribution caps may change. For further details refer to www.ato.gov.au.

Warning: You should provide the Trustee with your tax file number when you join YourChoice Super. If you do not provide your tax file number, you may pay extra tax on your contributions or when you later access your benefit, or you may not be able to make some types of contributions. It will also be more difficult to find your superannuation benefits if you change address without notifying us or to trace different super amounts in your name so that you receive all your super benefits when you retire.

Tax on withdrawals as lump sum

Component	Tax rate
Tax-free	No tax paid on withdrawals.
Taxable	Once you are over the age of 60, your lump sum payments are tax-free.
	If you are at or above your preservation age and under 60, the first $205,000 in the 2018/19 financial year is tax free and the balance is taxed up to a maximum rate of 15% plus any applicable levies.
	If you are under your preservation age, the whole of this component is taxed at a rate of 20% plus any applicable levies.

Note: Different rates of tax apply to super benefits that include an 'untaxed element'. For information about how tax applies to super contributions, investment earnings and withdrawals, see www.ato.gov.au/super.
